UNOPPOSED MOTION TO PRECLEAR POLLING PLACES

In its judgment of January 6, 2017, the Court ordered that no change in a voting qualification, standard, practice, or procedure be enforced unless it is first submitted to the Attorney General of the United States or to this Court for a finding that the qualification, standard, practice, or procedure does not have the purpose and will not have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color or in contravention of the voting guarantees set forth in 52 U.S.C. § 10303(f)(2). Patino v City of Pasadena, No. H-14-3241, Final Judgment and Order of Injunction. {Doc. 162}. This requirement continues until June 30, 2023, and the Court has retained jurisdiction until that time. Id. As the May 6 election for the city council will be the last general election to be held during the time for preclearance set out in this Court's 2017 order and absent any polling place changes in the event of a potential runoff, this will likely be the final submission during that period.

I have shared this motion and proposed order with Nina Perales, the attorney for the plaintiff in this cause, and I am authorized to represent that the plaintiffs do not oppose the motion for preclearance.

SUBMISSION OF POLLING PLACES

The Switch from City-Conducted to County-Conducted Elections

A change in the location of polling places is an election practice that typically requires preclearance. See, e.g., 28 C.F.R. § 51.13(d). The Court’s 2017 order applies to changes “with respect to voting different from that in force or effect on December 1, 2013.” Patino v City of Pasadena, No. H-14-3241, Final Judgment and Order of Injunction (Doc. 162), at 4-5. In 2013, the city conducted its own election and designated the polling places. Voters were required to cast election-day ballots in the district where they resided.

Subsequently, the City of Pasadena, rather than conducting its own elections, began to contract with Harris County to conduct its election as a joint election with other entities throughout the county that were holding elections on the same day. Beginning in 2019, Harris County became a vote center county. See, Tex. Elec. Code, § 43.007. As such, its elections are now conducted under a countywide polling place program so that, for example, when Pasadena contracts with the county to conduct its election, its residents are not restricted to casting their votes for the city council elections in the precinct in which they reside but can appear and vote a Pasadena city ballot in any polling place in Harris County. Because the county conducts the election, it, rather than the city, designates the polling places. In the coming 2023 election, there will be more than 140 sites that a Pasadena voter can choose from. Although some Pasadena residents' ballots will undoubtedly be cast at polling places in other parts of the county, it is reasonable to assume that most will be cast in a location within the city, so our focus in this motion is on the locations actually in the city as those will be most relevant to determining if the change in the polling place locations has the purpose or effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race, color, or language-minority status. Whether one compares the 2023 locations either to the 2013 date set out in the Court's order or to the most recent council election in 2021, it is apparent that there is neither the purpose nor the effect of hindering the opportunity to cast a vote.

COMPARISON OF POLLING PLACE SITES FOR 2013, 2021, AND 2023

Polling Places in 2013

In 2013, the date set as a benchmark in the Court's judgment and a time when Harris County voters were required to cast their election-day votes in their precinct of residence, the city conducted its own election rather than contracting with the county. There were ten election day polling places—one in each council district except for the very large and spread-out District H, which had three.¹ Similarly, in 2013 there was one early voting site, which was located at city hall. A list and map of the election-day polling places is attached as Exhibit A.

Polling Places in 2021, the Most Recent Election

The ten election day polling places and one early voting site in 2013, with each person restricted to cast an election day vote in the precinct of his or her residence, compares to seventeen election polling places in 2021, three of which also served as early voting sites. The distribution of the polling places was Districts A, B, and C—2 each for a total of 6; District D-3; District E-2; District F-4, District G-1, and District H-1. The categorization of polling places by district can be somewhat misleading, since in the 2021 election voters could vote at any of them, and some are literally across the street from an adjoining district. For example, polling places at Bailey Elementary School in District E and Teague Elementary School in District F are located on the border with District G. Golden Acres Elementary School in District F is located on the that district's border with District E. And, of course, any voter could vote at any Harris County polling location located outside the city. Three of the election day polling locations also served as early voting sites. They were located in Districts A, F, and G—one in the northern part of the city, one in the west, and one in the east. In short, once the city contracted with the county to run its election, the number of polling places located in the city almost doubled (from ten to 17 and the number of early voting sites tripled, as well as providing the opportunity for Pasadena residents to cast their votes at more than 100 additional sites located outside the city limits. A list and map of the 2021 polling places is attached as Exhibit B.

The 2023 Polling Locations Before the Court for Preclearance

The 2023 polling places preserve and perhaps slightly enhance the increased opportunities instituted in 2021 to cast a vote at a conveniently located polling place. The three early voting sites remain the same. Instead of 17 election day polling places, there are now 18. Fifteen of the 17 election-day sites from 2021 did not change. Two—McMaster Elementary and Red Bluff Elementary—were no longer used and were replaced by Harvey Turner Elementary and Jackson Intermediate School. The net gain of one polling place comes from the addition of a site on the campus of San Jacinto College, a community college located in the city limits that primarily serves students residing in multiple school districts in the eastern part of the county including Pasadena

I.S.D. Pasadena residents who are not associated with the college can certainly cast ballots there, but it is likely most voters will be students and faculty who may be from cities other than Pasadena.

Districts A-E, the five districts that have a Spanish-surname-registered-voter majority have two polling places each. Among that group, District D loses a voting site from 2021, going from three to two; however, the residents of that district will not have any city race on their ballots as their councilmember, Ms. Pat Van Houte, is unopposed for reelection, and the citywide election for mayor does not occur until 2025 when the county may choose different polling places. District G, which had one polling place in both 2013 and 2021 increases from one to two locations. In the case of that district, the polling place locations remained the same, but the district boundaries changed so that the polling place that was in District F across the street from District G is now in District G due to the 2022 redistricting expanding the size of District G. District H, the least Hispanic district, continues to have only one polling place as it did in 2021 and compared to three it had in 2013. Finally, District F increases from four to five polling locations. One location essentially replaces the one lost to District G when the boundary changed while the net gain is by the addition of a polling place at San Jacinto College. A map and list of the 2023 polling places is attached as Exhibit C.

CHANGES IN THE POLLING PLACES HAD NEITHER THE PURPOSE NOR THE EFFECT OF DISCRIMINATING

Changes in the number and location of polling places are the result of two actions—the decision to contract with the county to run the city election and the choice of the polling place locations. Neither reflects a discriminatory purpose. Contracting with the county meant that any Pasadena resident could vote at any polling place in the county; thus, increasing voters’ options from 2013 by more than 14-fold. Even if a voter does not find it convenient to vote at an out-of-city polling place, he or she now has the option to vote at any polling place in the city, rather than being confined to having to vote at only one designated location. Further, there are more in-city locations to choose from. Significantly increasing the ease and opportunity to cast a vote cannot have been done with a discriminatory purpose.

The choice of specific locations does not have a discriminatory purpose. First, that choice of the specific locations is made by the county elections administrator, not the city. Second, while every district other than District H has a Hispanic-citizen-voting-age population percentage of 45 per cent or more, five districts (Districts A-E) have a majority of Hispanic registered voters. See, Unopposed Motion to Approve City of Pasadena’s City Council Redistricting Plan Pursuant to Section 3 of the Voting Rights Act (Doc. 176), at pp. 7, Table II. The map of 2023 polling places suggest there is hardly any area in those five districts or for that matter, in the two districts—Districts F and G—where at least 45 percent but less than a majority of the adult citizens are Hispanic, that is not within a mile of at least one and generally more polling places.² See, Exhibit D. If there was any intent to discriminate on the basis of race or language-minority status, increasing available polling places to make voting easier and more convenient, especially in the parts of the city with high concentrations of Hispanics, would have been a strange way to accomplish it.

The standard for determining whether a change in an election practice has the purpose or effect of discriminating was stated by the Supreme Court in Beer v. United States, 425 U.S. 130, 141 (1976) as being “to insure that no voting-procedure changes would be made that would lead to a retrogression in the position of racial minorities with respect to their effective exercise of the electoral franchise.” It went on to say that it is apparent that an electoral change “that enhances the position of racial minorities with respect to their effective exercise of the electoral franchise can hardly have the ‘effect’ of diluting or abridging the right to vote on account of race with the meaning of § 5.” Id. See also, 28 C.F.R § 51.54(b) (Beer test of retrogression provides the standard for Attorney General review). While Beer was decided under section 5, the finding required under section 3 is the same as under section 5 as the language of the two statutes is substantively identical. Compare, 52 U.S.C. § 10304(a) (section 5) with 52 U.S.C. § 103043(c) (section 3). See also, 28 C.F.R., §§ 51.08, 51.54. Certainly here, where there is a significant increase in the availability of polling places between 2013 and 2021 and a slight increase between 2021 and 2023, the changes in the number and location of polling places has no retrogressive effect.

POSSIBILITY OF FURTHER CHANGES

Although no changes are anticipated, when there are well in excess of one hundred polling places across the county, it is not atypical for a polling place to become unexpectedly unavailable. In that sort of case, the county will delete it from the list and likely add another. If this happens in Kingwood or Katy, for example, it will change the number or locations of polling places that a Pasadena resident would be able to choose, but as a practical matter it would be highly unlikely to have any actual effect on Pasadena voters. To avoid the necessity of additional requests to the Court or to the Attorney General in the event of changes to polling places outside the Pasadena city limits, the City requests that the Court’s order provide that further preclearance of potential changes in the number or location of polling places is required only if the change results in a deletion of any of the 18 polling places located within the city and currently approved for use in the 2023 election.

PRAYER

The City of Pasadena prays that the Court issue an order finding that the submitted list of polling places for the May 6, 2023, city council election does not have the purpose and will not have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color or in contravention of the voting guarantees set forth in 52 U.S.C § 10303(c) and that the Court further order that a change in the list of submitted polling places will not require further review and preclearance unless the change includes the deletion of one or more of the submitted 18 polling locations within the city limits of the City of Pasadena.

CERTIFICATE OF CONFERENCE

On March 21, 2023, I conferred by email with Ms. Nina Perales of MALDEF, and I provided her with a draft copy of this motion, its exhibits, and the proposed order. She responded that “Plaintiffs do not oppose the motion for preclearance.”

Respectfully submitted,
